ECO DEL SUR, “Echoes of the South”

Sunday, April 5, 2:30 pm

Eco del Sur plays authentic Andean music with a variety of traditional instruments originated during Pre-Columbian times in combination with the stringed instruments influenced by the Spanish conquistadors such as zampoñas, quenas, zencas, ocarinas, charango, mandolin, guitar, Peruvian cajon, claves, rainsticks, and many more! This entertaining and educational presentation is a wonderful way to introduce the diverse cultures, languages, and rich cultural heritage of the many regions of South America.

District residents & Friends of the Library may pick up tickets beginning Monday, March 30, 10 am & 7 pm.
The Friends of the Library are proud to co-sponsor this program.

EDYTHE BRENNER MEMORIAL CONCERT

Shakespeare and All That Jazz
The Bard’s own words set to music by
John Dankworth, Arthur Young, Duke Ellington, and Billy Strayhorn
Featuring jazz vocalist Christiana Drapkin, Michael Kanan, piano, Stephanie Greig, string bass, Michael Petrosino, drums
■ Sunday, May 31, 2:30 pm

New York jazz vocalist, Christiana Drapkin celebrates the beauty and power of William Shakespeare’s poetry and presents it in lively, sometimes haunting jazz arrangements. Ms. Drapkin was inspired to create this show after listening to a recording by legendary singer Cleo Laine entitled “Shakespeare and All That Jazz”, with most of the arrangements by Ms. Laine’s husband, John Dankworth.

District residents may pick up tickets beginning Wednesday, May 13, 10 am & 7 pm.

United Choral Society
■ Sunday, June 14, 2 pm

The United Choral Society returns for a spring concert of beautiful music and beautiful voices.

Tickets may be picked up Wednesday, June 3, 10 am & 7 pm.

NEW YORK COUNCIL FOR THE HUMANITIES
With Robert Cohen
■ Tuesday, June 23, 1 pm

American-Jewish music has incorporated African and African-American musical idioms - blues & jazz, reggae and world music, even gospel and rap-to express the exuberance and vitality of contemporary Jewish Life and to enable the mainstreaming of Jewish popular music. We’ll listen in on this ongoing musical conversation.

This program, which is free and open to the public, is made possible through the support of the New York Council for the Humanities’ Speakers in the Humanities program.
LECTURES & COURSES

Astronomy: The Size and Scale of the Universe
With Kevin Manning, Astrophysicist
■ Thursday, April 16, 7:30 pm

Learn about the size and scale of the universe, the stars, and other celestial wonders. Mr. Manning, a retired astrophysicist, has worked as a consultant with NASA, with the Chandra X-Ray Observatory launched on the space shuttle, with the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics, and other ground-based observatories. He is also a former Wright Fellow and Einstein Fellow and participated in work with the Brookhaven National Laboratory.

Earthwatch: A Slide Lecture
With Muriel Horacek, Field Representative
■ Thursday, May 7, 10:30 am

Earthwatch Institute believes teaching and promoting scientific literacy is the best way to systematically approach and solve the many complex environmental and social issues facing society today. Earthwatch recruits volunteers to help scientists do research. Anyone 16 years old to an active octogenarian such as Ms. Horacek can participate. Each year Earthwatch sends over 500 K-12 teachers from all over the US at no cost. This slide lecture will cover 10-15 expeditions of the 35 Ms. Horacek took in the past 14 years.

Center for Family & Divorce Mediation
With Gary L. Berenholtz, Mediator and Kenneth Neumann, Child and Family Psychologist
■ Monday, April 20, 7:30 pm

This lecture will address the emotional effects of divorce on children and divorce in tough economic times. Mediation aims at reducing the tension and painfulness of separation or divorce. Mediation is for couples who want to retain control over the decisions that affect their lives. Mediators can show people how to work together productively for themselves and their children.

Hearing Screening
With Hunter Hearing, LLC, Full Service Audiological Service
■ Friday, May 22, 1 - 4:30 pm

A free hearing screening for adults and children conducted by audiologists of the Hunter Hearing LLC is being offered at the library. The screening consists of listening to a series of sounds while wearing headphones. Each participant will be given their results, which is confidential, and counseling if needed. The test is administered by trained audiologists. Jackie Kobar, a Hewlett resident, founded the center because she was unhappy with care her severely hearing-impaired son was receiving. He is doing great now and her desire is to give back to her community.

The Economy and You; De-mystifying America’s Economic Crisis
With Dr. Joseph Kenner
■ Thursday, June 18, 1 pm

De-mystifying our economic crisis is not a simple task. There is a path to understanding where we are, how we got here, and the alternatives confronting us. In the process, you will be presented with some historical background and a snapshot of an American economy in the process of change - not just recovery.

Joseph Kenner has been an educator, chairing local and national conferences. A former CEO, Mr Kenner has served as a board member of corporate as well as not-for-profit organizations.

AUTHOR VISIT

What Was I Thinking?: 58 Bad Boyfriend Stories
By Barbara Davilman and Liz Dubelman

Tuesday, May 26, 1 pm

This collection of first-person essays describing the moment in a relationship when, no more do you think it should work, or want it to work, or need it to work, you get that it’s not going to work. Whatever the details, these epiphanies make great stories. Hear the stories of Carrie Fisher, Claudia Handler, Cindy Chupack, Rachel Resnick, Mimi Pond, and others.

Ms. Davilman, who writes for television, is the co-author with her husband, Ellis Weiner of Yiddish with Dick and Jane, Yiddish with George and Laura.

Co-sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

BOOK DISCUSSION

People of the Book
By Geraldine Brooks
With Jane Shapiro

Thursday, June 11, 1 pm

In 1996, Australian Hanna Heath is invited by the United Nations to document the Sarajevo Haggadah, a centuries old manuscript, said to be worth $700 million when it was appraised in 1991. While detecting and analyzing clues about what the Haggadah has been through and where it has been hiding, Hanna finds a trace of an insect’s wing. It belongs to not just any butterfly; it belongs to Parnassius mnemosyne leonhardiana, which, Hanna learns, feeds only on an Alpine variety of larkspur. How did the Haggadah climb into the Alps?

Jane Shapiro is a popular book discussion leader.

The Madonnas of Leningrad
By Debra Dean
Discussion leader: Edna Ritzenberg

Monday, April 27

Russian emigre Marina’s descent into Alzheimer’s has her and her family experiencing anxiety. Marina’s recollections of her early years as a docent at the State Hermitage Museum become increasingly vivid as her present life begins to fade. As Leningrad is under siege at the beginning of World War II, museum workers—whose families were provided shelter in the building’s basement—stowed away countless treasures. Amid the chaos, Marina found solace in the creation of a “memory palace,” in which she envisioned the brushstroke of every painting and each statue’s line and curve.

Indignation
By Philip Roth
Discussion leader: Candace Plotzer-Herman

Monday, June 8

In the second year of the Korean War, a butcher’s son flees his father’s increasingly unhinged fears for his safety. Heading Midwest to college, he finds a strange collegiate land of fraternities, football heroes, V-neck pullover sweaters and white buckskin shoes, panty raids, mandatory chapel services, and a young woman with desires of her own. “Like another fiction grandmaster of his generation, Alice Munro, Roth seems able to spin infinite surprising tales from a few familiar building blocks, and in Indignation, his 25th novel, he has constructed a taut, haunting (and, as always, funny) story that ranks among his best.” —Tom Nissley, Publisher’s Weekly
