Mr. Clavin will also explain tax exemptions and payment options, and more.

Sutton by J.R. Moehringer

The choice for Long Island Reads is Sutton by J.R. Moehringer. Sutton is the story of Brooklyn born Willie Sutton, who both broke into banks and broke out of prisons, with equal ease, during the Great Depression. The FBI put Willie “the Actor” Sutton on its first-ever Most Wanted List. He never fired a shot; his victims were only, to him, the ‘blood thirsty’ banks. The public rootted shamelessly for Willie, even after he was finally caught in 1952.

Mr. Moehringer was born in New York City and raised by a single mother in Manhasset, NY. He graduated from Yale in 1986. He began his journalism career as a news assistant at The New York Times. He is also the author of the memoir The Tender Bar and Open, about and written with Andre Agassi.

SPECIAL ART LECTURE
Art Deco/Edgar Brandt: Master of Art Deco Ironwork
With Joan Kahr
■ Tuesday, April 30, 1 pm

Ms. Kahr has lectured at Cranbrook Academy of the Arts, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, and The National Building Museum in Washington, among others. Ms. Kahr also consults with auction houses, dealers, and collectors. As a lecturer for ABANA (Artists Blacksmiths Association of America), she has attended many ironwork demonstrations, and enjoyed meeting and befriending many talented blacksmiths. Ms. Kahr experienced a magical, “hands-on” time forging a plant holder with a Vermont blacksmith.

Small Brandt pieces from a private collection will be on display for this special art lecture.

WORD FUN
Etymology - The History and Origin of Words
With Ben Eilbott
■ Thursday, July 11, 11 am

Do you look back or ahead in January? For whom was Echo searching?

Why is December not the 10th month? Would you look for a hippopotamus in a hippodrome or in Mesopotamia?

One can now search for the meaning of almost any word on Google or a device, but who takes the time, or has the interest, especially when an “everyday” word is seen? Who bothers to pursue the origin of a word?

We’ll talk about words never really thought about, as well as a few others, and encourage you to bring some of your own common words to the lecture.

Ben Eilbott, former NYC principal and current President of the Board of Trustees, will discuss, illustrate, and delight you with the history and origin of words.

Registration begins at the Information Desk Wednesday, June 26, 10 am.

BERTE MORISOT
“First Woman Impressionist”
with Louise Cella Caruso
■ Tuesday, May 7, 1 pm

Berthe Morisot (January 14, 1841 - March 2, 1895) was a painter and a member of a group of painters in Paris who eventually became known as the Impressionists. She was one of “les trois grandes dames” of Impressionism, sharing the title with Marie Bracquemond and Mary Cassatt. She joined painters Paul Cézanne, Edgar Degas, Claude Monet, and Renoir in their first exhibits in Paris.

BOOK REVIEW

The Fallen Angel by Daniel Silva
With Dr. Annette Labovitz
■ Tuesday, June 11, 1 pm

Compelling, passionate, haunting, brilliant: these are the words that have been used to describe the work of award-winning #1 NY Times bestselling author Daniel Silva. The Fallen Angel begins with Gabriel Allon, the wayward son of Israeli intelligence, who has taken refuge behind the walls of the Vatican, where he is restoring one of Caravaggio's greatest masterpieces. But early one morning he is summoned to St. Peter's Basilica by Monsignor Luigi Donati, the all-powerful private secretary to His Holiness Pope Paul VII. The body of a beautiful woman lies beneath Michelangelo's magnificent dome. The Vatican police suspect suicide, though Gabriel believes otherwise...

Sutton by J.R. Moehringer

Discussion leader: Candace Plotsker-Herman

_Sutton_ is the story of Brooklyn born Willie Sutton, who both broke into banks and broke out of prisons, with the same ease, during the Great Depression. The FBI put Willie “The Actor” Sutton on its first-ever Most Wanted List. Sutton acquired his nickname because he knocked off banks and jewelry stores costumed as policemen, messengers, complete with fake mustaches and other disguises. He never fired a shot; his victims were only, to him, the ‘blood thirsty’ banks. The public rooted shamelessly for Willie, even after he was finally caught in 1952.

Moehringer’s novel begins with flashbacks, beginning on Christmas Eve, 1969, as a gubernatorial pardon (by then, banker Nelson Rockefeller) releases Sutton from Attica, where he was serving his last sentence.

... J.R. Moehringer performs a similarly audacious feat, tunneling through layers of legend and emerging with a novel that hums with the truth of Sutton’s life, with all its dramatic contradictions.

Mari Malcom - Amazon Best Books of the Month, September 2012.

(see page 3, for radio drama of Sutton, as part of Long Island Reads)

- May 20

The Round House by Louise Erdrich

Discussion leader: Edna Ritzenberg

_In Spring, 1988, a woman living on a reservation in North Dakota is attacked. Geraldine Coutts, the crime victim, is reluctant to reveal or relive her ordeal to the police or her husband, and son, Joe. In this one day, Joe’s life changed forever as he tries to heal his mother, as she remains bedridden, slipping away into an abyss. His father, a tribal judge, is frustrated as his efforts for justice are continually defied. Young Joe and his friends begin a quest, which takes them to the Round House, a sacred place of worship for the Ojibwe._

“Likely to be dubbed the Native American “To Kill a Mockingbird”, Louise Erdrich’s moving, complex and surprisingly uplifting new novel tells of a boy’s coming of age in the wake of a brutal racist attack on his mother.”—Sara Nelson, Amazon.com

- June 17

The World Without You by Joshua Henkin

Discussion leader: Candace Plotsker-Herman

_The story is set in 2005 during the 4th of July holiday, at the Frankel summer home in the Berkshires. They have come to memorialize their son, Leo, who was killed while working as a journalist in Iraq. The details of their son’s death are similar to the Daniel Pearl murder in Pakistan. Each family member is coping with the death of Leo and how his death has affected their lives. How do we move on after losing a loved one? How do we love again?
