The Looting of the Museum of Baghdad and Archaeological Sites in Southern Iraq

With Dr. Donny George Youkhanna, former Director General of the National Museum of Baghdad, visiting professor Stony Brook University

■ Sunday, November 2, 2:30 pm

Dr. George was instrumental in recovering almost half of the 15,000 Mesopotamian artworks and artifacts that date back to as much as 6,000 years, which were looted from the museum and Iraq’s 12,500 archaeological sites during the American-led invasion of his country in 2003. While living in Iraq, Dr. George was in constant fear for his life, a potential target for violence due to being relatively high-profile as a Christian government official, but also for his frequent appearances in western media. He had to change his car every day, change his route, change the times he drove, never knowing if he would make it to the museum or not.

Dr. George has long had ties to Stony Brook University, through his longtime friend, Dr. Elizabeth Stone, and was recently appointed visiting professor in the renowned Anthropology department, which gave him and his family a refuge from the trouble in his own country.

Dr. George has graciously agreed to come and do a presentation on the archaeological sites in southern Iraq and the looting of the Iraq Museum; the events leading up to it, what was looted, what was recovered, and what is still missing.

District residents may pick up tickets beginning Wednesday, October 15, 10 am & 7 pm.

Before Bob Dylan: Greenwich Village in the 1910s and 1920s

■ Sunday, November 16, 2:30 pm

The beats of the ‘50s, hippies of the ‘60s and gays of the ‘70s thought they were inventing it all from scratch, but in fact they were walking in a well-worn footpath. The real first Bohemia dated back to the days of Walt Whitman and the crowd at Pfaff’s on lower Broadway in the 1850s, but the first neighborhood identified specifically with Bohemian ways was Greenwich Village in the 1910s and ‘20s.

Barry Lewis, on-camera historian, and host David Hartman took television audiences on fascinating “walking tours” of New York City. Mr. Lewis’s rich commentary and endless facts made the tours memorable. This lecture was originally given at the Morgan Library.

District residents & Friends of the Library may pick up tickets beginning Wednesday, November 5, 10 am & 7 pm.

The Friends of the Library are pleased to be co-sponsoring this program.

AUTHOR VISIT

F Homemade Hollywood:
Fans Behind the Camera
By Clive Young, Senior Editor
Pro Sound News, Crank It Up

■ Tuesday, December 11, 1 pm

Who would swing off a six-story building for a homemade Spider-Man movie? Why would three nobodies blow Steven Spielberg’s mind with an Indian Jones flick they made in their teens in the 80s? They are part of the Fan Film revolution- an underground movement where backyard filmmakers are breaking the law to create movies starring Harry Potter, James Bond, and other favorite movie and television characters. Homemade Hollywood: Fans Behind the Camera traces the fan film movement from the 1920s, when con men made fake Little Rascals movies to the Internet video sensations of today.

Author Clive Young will tell the story of these films with fan film clips you might not have the chance to see anywhere else.

The Friends of the Library are pleased to be co-sponsoring this program.

A Monthly Afternoon Discussion Group

■ Mondays at 2 p.m.
District residents may reserve copies of the books well in advance of the discussions. Review packets are available at the Information Desk.

■ Monday, October 6, 2 pm
When a Crocodile Eats the Sun:
A Memoir of Africa By Peter Godwin
Discussion leader: Edna Ritzenberg

Journalist Peter Godwin returns to Africa after his father suffers a heart attack only to find out what has been hidden up until now - that his father is Jewish and has hidden it from Godwin and his siblings. Almost as a metaphor, his father’s health deteriorates along with the health of Zimbabwe.

“Godwin’s narrative flows seamlessly across the decades, creating a searing portrait of a family and a nation collectively coming to terms with death. This is a tour de force of personal journalism and not to be missed.”— Publisher’s Weekly

■ Monday, November 17, 2 pm
Olive Kitteridge By Elizabeth Strout
Discussion leader: Ellen Getreu

Olive Kitteridge - a book of thirteen linked tales, each chapter a narrative by different members of the community of Crosby, Maine.

“Funny, wicked and remorseful, Mrs. Kitteridge is a compelling life force, a red-blooded original. When she’s not onstage, we look forward to her return. The book is a page-turner because of her.” – San Francisco Chronicle

■ Monday, December 15, 2 pm

Goldfinger
■ November 24
Starring Sean Connery, Honor Blackman
Directed by Guy Hamilton, Rated PG, 110 min.
Based on the Broadway hit play, State of the Union tells the story of businessman Grant Matthews bid for the presidential nomination of the Republican party. Though not as controversial as the play was, the movie has great acting, direction, and echoes many of the themes of today’s politics. Angela Lansbury is especially good as she steals scenes from everyone she shares them with.

Iron Jawed Angels

Sunday, November 9, 2 pm

Directed by Fred Schepisi
Starring Hilary Swank, Anjelica Huston, Frances O’Connor, Margo Martindale
Guest Speaker: Jane Lane, writer

Iron Jawed Angels tells the story of the struggle of suffragists who fought for the passage of the 19th Amendment giving women the right to vote. The film focuses on two important women, Alice Paul (Hilary Swank) and Lucy Burns (Frances O’Connor). Paul and Burns break away from the mainstream women’s rights movement and create a more radical wing. The women are thrown in jail, with an ensuing hunger strike making headline news. The women’s resistance to being force-fed earns them the nickname “The Iron Jawed Angels.”

District residents may pick up tickets beginning Wednesday, October 29, 10 am & 7 pm.

* National Council of Jewish Women/Dr. Irving Zimmerman Community Service Fund sponsors this program.

The Magic Flute

Sunday, December 21, 2 pm

Originally made for Swedish television, The Magic Flute combines the artificiality of opera while using the flexibility of film to vary what we are seeing in such a way that could never be achieved by simply filming a live opera, all with Mozart’s lyrical, unforgettable music.

Bergman cast attractive people with naturally beautiful voices, several international opera stars. Bergman had seen the opera as a child in a beautiful old opera house in Sweden and loved it. He creates the opera in a replica of an opera house, showing you the audience from the overture and throughout the film while also going back stage during intermission so you see the activity of the cast off stage and making their entrances. The film takes off with scenes that could not happen in an opera house. Bergman was a musician besides a filmmaker and studied to be a conductor, which is evident in the film as it moves from beginning to end along with music, shot by shot.

This delightful, unforgettable film was released in 1976 but just recently has become available.

State of the Union

Thursday, October 30, 2 pm

Starring Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn, Angela Lansbury, Van Johnson, Adolphe Menjou, Margaret Hamilton
Directed by Frank Capra, 124 min. 1948

It Runs in the Family

Sunday, October 26, 2 pm

Directed by Fred Schepisi
Rated PG-13, 109 min.

Some families can survive everything, even each other. The Grombers are a highly successful family - except when it comes to communicating with each other. But every once in awhile, there comes a time to come together - to celebrate, to laugh, to fight, to cry, and to care for each other.

District residents may pick up tickets beginning Thursday, October 16, 10 am & 7 pm.

* The National Council of Jewish Women/Dr. Irving Zimmerman Community Service Fund sponsors this program.

The Operas
