SPECIAL AUTHOR VISIT

Roger Rosenblatt

The Boy Detective:

A New York Childhood
Tuesday, November 12, 2 pm

Roger Rosenblatt began writing professionally in his mid-30s, when he became Literary Editor and a columnist for The New Republic. Before that, he taught at Harvard, where he earned his Ph.D and held the Briggs-Copeland appointment in the teaching of writing. Six universities have awarded him honorary doctorates. In 2005, he was the Edward R. Murrow visiting professor at Harvard. In 2008 he was appointed Distinguished Professor of English and Writing at Stony Brook University, one of five such appointments in the SUNY system, where he currently teaches.

His pieces for Time magazine have won two George Polk Awards, awards from the Overseas Press Club, the American Bar Association, and others. His television essays for the NewsHour with Jim Lehrer on PBS have won the Peabody and the Emmy awards. His Time cover essay, “A Letter to the Year 2086,” was chosen for the time capsule placed inside the Statue of Liberty at its centennial.

Of his many publications, his outstanding works include: the national bestseller, Rules for Aging; three collections of essays; and Children of War, which won the Robert F. Kennedy Book Prize. Making Toast, a book-length version of his December 2008 essay in The New Yorker, on the death of his daughter was a national best seller. The Boy Detective is a memoir of growing up in New York City.

District residents and Friends of the Library may pick up tickets beginning Tuesday, October 22, 10 am & 7 pm.

RON BERLER
Raising the Curve: A Year Inside One of America’s 45,000 Failing Public Schools
Thursday, October 3, 1 pm

Journalist Ron Berler spent a full year at Brookside Elementary in Norwalk, Connecticut, sitting in on classes, strategy sessions, and even faculty meetings. In Raising the Curve, he introduces us to the students, teachers, and staff who make up the Brookside community. Though their school is classified as failing—like so many others across the country—they never give up on themselves or on one another. In this nuanced and personal portrait, Berler captures their concerns, as well as their pride, resilience, and spirited faith. Berler’s work has appeared in Sports Illustrated, Wired, Men’s Journal, and ESPN.com, among other publications.

MOSES GATES, Urban Explorer
Hidden Cities: A Memoir of Urban Exploration Travels to the Secret Corners of the World’s Great Metropolises
Sunday, November 3, 2:30 pm

After moving to New York City and pursuing graduate studies in Urban Planning at Pratt, Moses Gates began unearthing hidden facets of the city—abandoned structures, disused subway stops, etc. In this memoir of his experiences, Gates details his travels through underground canals, sewers, subways, and crypts, in metropolises spanning four continents. Hidden Cities will inspire readers to think about the potential for urban exploration available for anyone, anywhere—if they have only the curiosity (and nerve!) to dig below the surface to discover the hidden corners of this world.

In addition to a lecture, Mr. Gates will present a film about his adventures. His explorations of New York have been featured on the History Channel, the Travel Channel, WNYC, and in The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and The Guardian.

District residents and Friends of the Library may pick up tickets beginning Tuesday, October 22, 10 am & 7 pm.

Words & Numbers
With Ben Eilbott
■ Thursday, October 3, 7 pm
One can now search for the meaning of almost any word on Google or a device, but who takes the time, or has the interest, especially when an “everyday” word is seen? Who bothers to pursue the origin of a word?
We’ll talk about words never really thought about, as well as a few others, and encourage you to bring some of your own common words to the lecture. As an extra bonus, interesting facts and fun with numbers will be added to this lecture.

Ben Eilbott is a former NYC principal and current President of the Board of Trustees.
Registration begins at the Information Desk Tuesday, September 24, 10 am.

14 Forgotten Favorites

Famous Trials in American History
With Don Parker, American History teacher and a member of PEIR, Hofstra University
■ Tuesday, December 17, 1 pm
Mr. Parker will discuss two famous trials. The Scottsboro Boys were the notorious trials of nine black youngsters in Alabama in the 1930s. The trials led to two significant US Supreme Court decisions, which served as a prelude to civil rights decisions in the 1960s.
The second trial to be discussed is “Army on Trial” which took place towards the end of World War II when enlisted men and officers were tried for abuse and flagrant punishment of American soldiers who committed crimes while in service.

Donald X. Clavin, Jr.
Receiver of Taxes
■ Tuesday, October 29, 1 pm
Mr. Clavin will give taxpayers an update on: Tax discounts, Property Tax Exemptions, Basic Star Exemptions, NYS Legislation, How to Challenge your Assessment, Payment options, and more.

White House Thanksgiving: A Seasonal Floral Seminar
With Frank Lazzaro, former White House Holiday and State Dinner Decorator
■ Wednesday, November 13, 1 pm
Frank Lazzaro will give a one hour lecture on floral designs he created while he was floral designer at the White House during the Ford, Carter, and Reagan years. He will share photographs of his many beautiful designs, created for holidays at the White House and White House State Dinners, and other special White House events.
Learn a few “floral design tips” as Mr. Lazzaro demonstrates how to create a lovely seasonal centerpiece fit for a White House table and raffle it off to one lucky person attending the lecture.

Home by Toni Morrison
Discussion leader: Candace Plotsker-Herman
Monday, October 7, 1 pm

After the war, Frank Money’s life is destroyed and he is directionless until he hears that Cee, his sister, is in danger. Frank returns to a 1950s America with all the pitfalls for a young, unsuspecting black man. Together, Frank and Cee return to their rural hometown of Lotus, where secrets of the past are exposed and where Frank discovers what it means to be a man and truly come home.

“Haunting... [Morrison] maps the day-to-day lives of her characters with lyrical precision... Home encapsulates all the themes that have fueled her fiction, from the early novels Sula and The Bluest Eye, through her dazzling masterwork, Beloved.” —Michiko Kakutani, The New York Times

The Art Forger by B.A. Shapiro
Discussion leader: Edna Ritzenberg
Monday, November 18, 1 pm

The Art Forger is an electrifying novel about seeing—and not seeing—the secrets that lie beneath the canvas. Claire Roth has entered into a deal with a formidable gallery owner by agreeing to forge a Degas in exchange for a one-woman show in his well-known gallery. But as she begins her work, she starts to wonder whether this long-missing masterpiece—the very one that had been hanging in the famous Isabelle Gardner Museum, may itself be a forgery.

“Precise and exciting... Readers seeking an engaging novel about artists and art scandals will find “The Art Forger” rewarding for its skillful balance of brisk plotting, significant emotional depth and a multi-layered narration rich with a sense of moral consequence.” —The Washington Post

Faith by Jennifer Haigh
Discussion leader: Ellen Getreu
Monday, December 16, 1 pm

Art, Sheila, and Mike are siblings in a large Irish-American family from the Boston suburbs. Art, beloved priest of a major Catholic parish outside Boston, seems to disappear just before Easter. The news breaks that Art has been accused of sexual misconduct. The media attention splinters the community. Family members turn on one another. As the book evolves, what Art might have done and the outrage at the apparently unfair accusations, keeps the truth remaining elusive for readers in this ingeniously constructed family drama.

“Expertly wrought... Ms. Haigh, a subtle, serious novelist who happens to have a flair for capturing troubled family dynamics, never allows FAITH to become predictable...” —New York Times
