Oral History Project inspired by StoryCorps
Help Keep The Five Towns Rich History And Leave A Legacy For Future Generations!

Did you grow up in the Five Towns? Did you live here before World War II? Do you have memories of your family and prior generations? Did your family have a business here for generations?

Inspired by StoryCorps, a national program designed to help public libraries across the country collect the stories of their communities, long-term residents will be asked to share their recollections of historic Five Towns. With your help, Five Towns’ rich heritage and wealth of memories can be brought to life and preserved for future generations.

If you or someone you know would like to participate, please contact Local History Librarian, Millicent Vollono, 516-374-1967 x158, or email: mvollono@hwpl.org.

Beyond Gatsby
The Fabled Gardens of Long Island’s Gold Coast with CeCe Haydock, Constance T. Haydock, Landscape Architect, P.C.

Wednesday, December 16, 1 pm

Beginning around the turn of the century and through the 1920s, the North Shore was the place to be for some of the most notable Americans. Along with grand houses, they built elaborate gardens. Discover the gardens, as they were originally built, and learn about their history, landscape design, and present condition.

CeCe Haydock graduated Princeton University with a BA in English, and received a master’s degree in landscape architecture from the SUNY School of Environmental Science and Forestry.

STEPPING ON!
Building Confidence and Reducing Falls
An 8-part Workshop
Thursday, October 1 - November 19, 1:30-3:30 pm

Stepping On is a well-researched fall prevention program. It empowers older adults to reduce their risk of falling. The program was evaluated and the results published in the September 2004 issue of the Journal of American Geriatrics Society. In this study, Dr. Lindy Clemson, an occupational therapist in Australia, found that those completing Stepping On experienced a 31% reduction in falls. North Shore/LIJ Health System purchased the license for the program and had health professionals specially trained to become Master Leaders.

The series consists of eight workshops; once a week for two hours. Two trained leaders facilitate the classes. Classes are highly participatory with the sharing of mutual support and success that builds participants’ confidence in their ability to reduce the risk of falls and maintain active and fulfilling lives.

Eligibility: 60 years or over, not suffering from dementia, walking independently or using a cane, are at risk of falling, have a fear of falling, have fallen one or more times.

District residents may register beginning Thursday, September 24, 10 am. In-person registration is required. You will be required to fill out a form at time of registration. Workshop is limited to 15 persons.

ART LECTURES

World’s Fair Series

4 Tuesdays

America’s First World’s Fair, The American Institute Fair, 1829

Tuesday, October 13, 1 pm

In 1829, the United States joined the community of nations as a free, stable, and vast country. To celebrate the announcement of a new country, the USA hosted the American Institute Fair, unofficially known as America’s First World’s Fair.

The Crystal Palace Exposition, 1853

Tuesday, October 20, 1 pm

By 1853, the United States had expanded to the Pacific Ocean, rivaling Europe in wealth, territory, and glory. Between July 1853 and November 1854, New York City invited the great nations of the world to display the fruits of their industrial accomplishments at The Exhibition of the Industry of All Nations.

World’s Fair 1939-1940

Tuesday, November 17, 1 pm

New York City celebrated the emergence of the United States as a major world empire with a big party, called A World’s Fair. The American empire included Puerto Rico, Panama Canal, Hawaii, Alaska, and the Philippines, Wake, and Guam.

World’s Fair 1964-1965

Tuesday, December 15, 1 pm

This fair celebrated the declaration that the United States was now the leading nation on the planet. Britain and France were second-rate powers, the US economy, military, culture, and language ruled the planet. Again, New York City was the premier city of this global empire.

BOOK DISCUSSION

50 Children: One Ordinary American Couple’s Extraordinary Rescue Mission Into the Heart of Nazi Germany

by Steven Pressman

With Jane Shapiro

Wednesday, October 14, 1 pm

They said it couldn’t be done—rescue 50 Jewish children from Nazi-held Vienna in 1939 and bring them to safety in the US. Would the Nazi’s let them out and would the US State Department let them in? The film on this episode in history was viewed last year at the library, partnering with NCJW. This book goes deeper into this historic, courageous act by a couple from Philadelphia to rescue 50 Jewish children.

The Children Act
by Ian McEwan

Discussion leader: Esther Davidson
Thursday, November 12, 10:30 am

Fiona Maye is a leading High Court judge who presides over cases in the family division. Her professional success belies the sorrow of her personal life. She is called on to decide an urgent case: Adam, a lovely 17-year-old boy is refusing medical treatment that could save his life for religious reasons, which his family supports. Her judgment has consequences for them both.

“Highly subtle and page-turningly dramatic...Only a master could imagine, in barely over 200 pages, to engage so many ideas, leaving nothing neatly answered.” — Boston Globe

Florence Gordon
by Brian Morton

Discussion leader: Candace Plotsker-Herman
Monday, November 23, 1 pm

Florence Gordon: blunt, brilliant, cantankerous and passionate, feminist icon to young women, invisible to almost everyone else. At age 75 she deserves to lay down her burden after raising a family, enjoy her solitude, and get on with writing her memoirs. As she begins to write, she is interrupted by her son Daniel, who has returned to New York with his wife and daughter, involving her in their dramas. And then her left foot, which is starting to drag... With wit, a tenderness and respect for humanity, Brian Morton introduces a collection of unforgettable characters.

“What a treat it is to read Brian Morton’s latest novel, populated with the prickly, civic-minded liberal intellectuals we’ve come to expect from him...self-aware and humorous....” — NPR.org
