The Stuart Fishman Memorial Concert

Ethan Leifer: Live on Broadway

Ethan Leifer Productions

Sunday, September 16, 1:30 & 4 pm

Cantor Leifer’s singing career began in 1996 when he was picked from the audience at a concert at Colden Center at Queens College by Jewish superstar “Dedi” to sing a duet. The rest they say is history. In addition to his role as a Cantor, he is a professional singer and performer. His debut album, Ranenu, produced by Yaron Gershovsky, pianist and musical director for The Manhattan Transfer, introduce the listener to a unique assortment of melodies and styles not heard before on an album. Cantor Leifer has a wide range of styles from Broadway to Middle Eastern and Jewish rock. Mr. Gershovsky and his band will join him.

District residents and Friends of the Library may pick up tickets beginning Tuesday, September 4, 10 am and 7 pm.

The Big Screen

Films that are just better up on the big screen

Swim Team: To level the playing field, they had to get into the water

Documentary film by Lara Stolman, Woodland Park Productions, Short Hills, NJ, 90 min.

Monday, August 20, 7 pm

Demonstrating the power of inclusion to transcend disability, Lara Stolman’s triumphant film profiles members of the Jersey Hammerheads, a competitive swim team made up of a diverse group of teens on the autism spectrum, based in the state with the highest rate of autism in the country. Through training and competition, star athletes Mikey, Robbie, and Kelvin gain self-confidence and social skills that serve them both in and out of the pool.

Seed: The Untold Story - A documentary

Taggart Siegel, director/producer and Jon Betz, director/producer

Featuring Marisa Tomei, Jane Goodall, Rated PG, 1 hour 34 min.

Wednesday, August 15, 1 pm

Few things on Earth are as miraculous and vital as seeds—worshipped and treasured since the dawn of humankind. This documentary follows passionate seed keepers who are protecting a 12,000 year-old food legacy. In the last century, 94 seed varieties have disappeared. A cadre of 10 aggro-chemical companies, including Syngenta, Bayer, and Monsanto, control over two-thirds of the global seed market, reaping unprecedented profits. Farmers and others battle to defend the future of our food.

“[seed] is a gorgeously made film, put together with as much care as its subjects devote to saving the remaining varieties of seeds.”—Los Angeles Times

H-WPL Next Chapter Book Club: The Pagemasters

H-WPL Next Chapter Book Group, AKA The Pagemasters, is a book group for mentally challenged adults, ages 18 years and up. The group meets on Mondays from 1:30-2:30 pm. The club chooses the book to be read, often hi-lo books (high interest/low vocabulary). Games using vocabulary words such as word scramble, crosswords, HangMan, and more are done at each club meeting. Besides a love of reading and stories, we begin each meeting socializing and talking about what is going on in club members’ lives. Caretakers often join in the reading. We are also exploring the idea of an additional group meeting on Monday evenings, 7-8 pm. If you are interested in becoming a member of the club or have any questions, please contact Nadine Connors, Cultural Program Specialist at 516-374-1967 x237 or nconnors@hwpl.org.

Standard Deviation
By Katherine Heiny
Discussion Leader: Ellen Getreu
• Tuesday, July 10, 10:30 am

Graham Cavanaugh divorced his first wife to marry his girlfriend, Audra, an irrepressible, spontaneous, fun woman. But, Graham learns, life with Audra can also be exhausting. Audra believes the force of her personality can overcome the most socially challenging situations, guiding her son through awkward play dates, even when deciding to create a friendship with Graham’s first wife, Elspeth. And as Graham and Audra share dinners, holidays, and late glasses of wine with his first wife he starts to wonder: How can anyone love two such different women? Did I make the right choice? Is there a right choice?

This book is about a marriage under stress—though Heiny keeps it bubbly, evoking the smart, stylish wit of Laurie Colwin, Nora Ephron, and Maria Semple. . .

Moving Kings
By Joshua Cohen
Discussion Leader: Mira Rosenfeld Sennett
• Tuesday, August 7, 10:30 am

One of the boldest voices of his generation, Joshua Cohen’s Moving Kings, is a powerful novel that interweaves, the housing crisis in America’s poor black and Hispanic neighborhoods with the world’s oldest conflict in the Middle East.

Twenty-one-year-olds Yoav and Uri, veterans of the last Gaza War, have just completed their compulsory military service in the Israel Defense Forces. They have taken the compulsory year off and then come to New York City to work for Yoav’s distant cousin David King—a proud American patriot, Republican, and Jew, and the proprietor of King’s Moving Inc., an important business in the tri-state area’s moving and storage industries. Struggling to become reacquainted with civilian life, it’s not easy to move beyond their traumatic pasts when their days are spent kicking down doors as eviction-movers in the poorer corners of the Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens.

A propulsive, incendiary novel about faith, race, class, and what it means to have a home, from Joshua Cohen, “a major American writer”
—The New York Times

Heroes of the Frontier
By Dave Eggers
Discussion Leader: Ellen Getreu
• Monday, September 17, 2 pm

Josie and her husband have split up, she’s been sued by a former patient, and has lost her dental practice. Also she is grieving the death of a young man killed shortly after enlisting. When her ex asks to take the children to meet his new fiancée’s family, Josie makes a run for it to Alaska with her kids, Paul and Ana. The trip feels, at first, like a vacation as they see wildlife and eat hotdogs cooked on an open fire. They spend nights parked along icy cold rivers in dark forests. As they drive along in their old RV, Josie is chased by enemies both real and imagined.

This picaresque adventure and spiritual coming-of-age tale—On the Road crossed with Henderson the Rain King. . . Deeply affecting.
